Gabriel Zimmerman is the first staffer to be murdered while in the line of duty; the legislation passed the House with a unanimous vote

Washington, DC – Congressman Sam Farr (D-Carmel) today voted in support H.Res. 364, legislation that will name a meeting room in the U.S. Capitol in honor of Gabriel Zimmerman, a UC Santa Cruz graduate and staff member of Congresswoman Gabrielle Giffords who was killed in the January 8th shooting in Tucson, Arizona. H.Res. 364 designates room HVC 215 of the Capitol Visitor Center as the "Gabriel Zimmerman Meeting Room".

"The 'Gabriel Zimmerman Meeting Room' will honor the legacy of Gabriel Zimmerman and the thousands of congressional staffer that work in our communities across the country," said Congressman Sam Farr
. "By all accounts Gabe was a person dedicated to making a difference in the lives of the people around him, and now that spirit will be echoed by the people who visit this room and the staffer that use it everyday."

Zimmerman graduated from UC Santa Cruz in 2002, where a Scholarship Fund has also been established in his honor to celebrate his dedication to public service. Gabriel Zimmerman is the first Congressional staff member to be murdered while in the line of duty.

Congressman Farr is cosponsor of the bipartisan legislation, H. Res. 364.
